

COMM345: Emergent Media

This course explores media that are still developing, the use and roles of which are still being determined. Students will examine academic studies and practical industrial applications of emerging media, including social and mobile media, marketing techniques, content creation, and globalization.

Credit Hour(s): 3

Prerequisites:

COMM 215.

Department: Communication and Media Studies