

POS210: Politics and Film

An introduction to basic principles of politics through the use of film. The course analyzes several films, placing them in context and discussing the specific events depicted in the films. This course will also examine the messages (if any) these films have for contemporary politics.

Credit Hour(s): 3

Department: Political Science

Semester Offered:

Fall (odd)

Area of Inquiry: Soc & Behav Sciences