

PSY340: Child Development

This course provides an overview of growth and development from conception through middle childhood. Opportunities are provided for observation in an early childhood center or participation in a service learning placement in a community organization or agency serving young children (5 hours). Special emphasis is placed on the cultural contexts of child development.

Credit Hour(s): 3

Prerequisites:

PSY111.

Department: Psychology

Semester Offered:

Fall