

PSY425: Brain and Behavior

This course covers the influence of brain functioning on behavior from physiological, genetic, and evolutionary perspectives. The course will include current research and examine the impact of injury and disease/ disorder on human behavior.

Credit Hour(s): 3

Prerequisites:

PSY111 and BIO100 or BIO111.

Department: Psychology

Semester Offered:

Spring