

KHS341: Principles of Patient Care

This course will provide students with the foundational knowledge in basic skills associated with quality patient care. Some hands-on skills the student will learn include patient transport, ambulatory techniques, vital signs, and patient communication. Additionally, students will learn about aspects of the patient healthcare plan including medical team and commonly used medical tests.

Credit Hour(s): 3

Department: Kinesiology and Health Studies

Semester Offered:

Spring