

CSC405: Database Management

This course introduces database concepts necessary to inform the choice of a database system for applications, and to construct and use a database. At least one type of database system is studied, and is used in both data analysis and web-app development settings.

Credit Hour(s): 3

Prerequisites:

CSC303.

Program: Computer Science

Semester Offered:

Spring (even)