

EDU423: Classroom Management

This course will assist candidates in developing a personalized classroom management program that will be an integral part of their overall teaching approach. Topics include developmental aspects of student behavior, theories relating to classroom management, and practical approaches to successful classroom leadership based on each student's orientation toward teaching control/student autonomy.

Credit Hour(s): 2

Department: Education

Semester Offered:

Fall