

POS341: Force and Security

In a world without higher authority than the sovereign state, war is always possible, and states must prepare to settle their disagreements through the use of force. This course will deal with the consequences of this dilemma, focusing not only on war itself, but also on the means that states use to insure their security short of war and the ethical issues involving the use of force.

Credit Hour(s): 3

Department: Political Science

Semester Offered:

Spring (odd)