

SOC373: Class and Stratification

This course is designed to provide a survey of major sociological theories and research on inequality in modern societies, with emphasis on the contemporary United States. We will examine: the distribution of wealth, status, political power, and other valued resources; the structure and effects of class, race, gender, and other modes of social differentiation; social mobility; and the reproduction of inequality.

Credit Hour(s): 3

Prerequisites:

SOC111 or 118.

Program: Sociology

Semester Offered:

Fall (odd)