

SOC425: Aging in Mass Society

This course is designed to offer a comprehensive study of the dimensions of aging from young adulthood through the senior years. Particular emphasis will be placed on the analysis of problems related to aging with exploration of possible solutions, including social services.

Credit Hour(s): 3

Department: Sociology