

SOC427: Social Network Analysis

This course is designed to provide an introduction to social network analysis. Special attention will be paid to the theories behind this research, but this class will also provide an introduction to the theoretical concepts and methodology of social network analysis from a research perspective. Although technical in a certain sense, the course will not require any mathematical background.

Credit Hour(s): 3

Prerequisites:

SOC111 or 118.

Program: Sociology